Cyan Animática offers creative solutions to a wide spectrum of communication projects. We have over 20 years of solid international experience in advertising, museography and entertainment.

Exploring the vanguard of emerging technologies, we blend interactivity, software development, R&D and creativity.

Our primary focus is on Information and Communications Technologies (ICT) that make information accessible to people in different regions and cultures. We look for new correlations and interpretations to enrich cultural and intellectual heritage.

Cyan Animática is actively looking for European partners to work on EU-funded projects like Horizon 2020. We offer technical excellence, a multidisciplinary team and proven international experience.

R&D

We dive deep into the virtual and augmented reality. We think and analyze. We make and break. We play. We incorporate the results into our new projects.

Cross-platform

We create stories, experiences, sensations and emotions that fit any device or space - physical or virtual.

Tailor-made projects

Each project is unique, from conceptualization and design to CGI development; through content treatment, customer presentation and the final implementation. Always with an added, distinctive value.
